

The Department of Languages, Literatures & Cultures at Towson University seeks an adjunct instructor to teach two to three courses in Deaf Studies. Salary is $4,000 per course.

Required Qualifications:

1. Master's degree in the field of teaching ASL or a related field (e.g., Deaf Studies, Deaf Education, ASL Studies, Sign Language Teaching)
2. Teaching experience
3. Native or near-native proficiency in ASL (ASLPI score of 3+)

If interested, please submit the following materials:

1. Cover letter with complete contact information and a video link (see #2).
2. Self-introduction in ASL (no more than 3 minutes) that explains your background and interest in the position. Include a YouTube link in the cover letter.
3. Updated resume or curriculum vitae.
4. List of three professional references including current contact information (e.g., email, phone).

Please email the materials to Dr. Margherita Pampinella, Chair of the Department of Languages, Literatures & Cultures at mpampinella@towson.edu, and type in the subject line "DFST Adjunct Fall 2022"